ANNUAL REPORT

Bringing the Arts
TO THE SCHOOLS OF
Johns & Wadmalaw Islands

2024

EDITION

WHO WE ARE

Arts, etc. is made up of about 200 women living on Kiawah Island and Cassique, who are committed to making arts education available to the students on Johns and Wadmalaw Islands. The majority of the schools we serve are Title 1 schools where the income profile of the district is often inadequate to support arts programming for their deserving students. This type of programming is known to enrich the overall education experience.

Each year we hold our major fundraiser, the Kiawah Art & House Tour, to raise money for our mission. Through the generosity of our business sponsors, member and friend donations, we are able to offer 20+ quality programs annually, to over 2,000 students in the community schools provided by the high quality music and arts organizations in the the Charleston area.

OUR MISSION

We support arts education for the students of Johns and Wadmalaw Islands and provide cultural enrichment for members.

Some of the programs we sponsor...

(for complete list, see final page)

- Chamber Music Charleston - Classical Kids
- Charleston Jazz - Jazz Combo Classes, Melodica Classes, In-School Concerts
- PURE Theatre - After School Theatre Programs
- The Gaillard Center - A variety of in town performances that reach 1500 of our students.
- Charleston Stage - Workshops and Performances of A Year With Frog & Toad

OUR IMPACT

13 PROGRAM PARTNERS

WHY DOES ARTS PROGRAMMING MATTER TO STUDENTS?

Voices of Johns and Wadmalaw Island School Leaders

There are many reasons why Arts, etc. has transformed our climate and culture at Haut Gap Middle School. We try to engage all students and your contributions have made a difference. The variety of activities are exciting and students are eager to join and participate. Arts, etc. has been so generous with the amount of people and activities. Often, middle school students have a difficult time fitting in and finding friends. These activities allow students to be exposed to authentic experiences and new people. We are excited that over 100 of our students are participating and thriving each week. I look forward to our students being able to enjoy all the offerings of Arts, etc. Thank you for all you do for our students on Johns Island!

J. Travis Benintendo, Principal
Haut Gap Middle School

The arts provide both mirrors and windows for student experiences -- students can learn more about themselves and learn about others through the arts!

The arts boost critical thinking skills -- students have to create, plan, make decisions, take risks, etc. which all help students grow!

The arts deepen our students' knowledge and understanding, both of themselves and of the world around them!

Anna Mims, Principal
Mt. Zion Elementary School

WHY DOES ARTS PROGRAMMING MATTER TO STUDENTS?

Voices of Johns and Wadmalaw Island School Leaders

Arts education impacts our students by:

- Enhancing Creativity and Critical Thinking: Engaging in the arts encourages students to think outside the box, fostering creative problem-solving skills. This nurtures their ability to approach challenges in innovative ways, which is essential not only in arts-related fields but in all aspects of life and learning.
- Improves Emotional Expression and Confidence: Arts education provides a platform for students to express themselves in a safe and supportive environment. Whether through theater, music, or visual arts, children can explore and convey their emotions, leading to improved emotional intelligence and self-confidence. This is particularly beneficial for young people who might struggle with traditional forms of expression.
- Supports Academic and Social Development: Studies have shown that students who participate in the arts often perform better in other academic areas. The skills gained from practicing and performing such as discipline, focus, and collaborative work—translate to improved performance in subjects like math and reading, while also enhancing social skills and teamwork.

Arts education truly builds a strong foundation for personal growth, academic achievement, and life skills that benefit young minds. The transition is remarkable. Our kids leave these programs with a new attitude and mindset. Each day they grow and improve their craft by trusting themselves and the educators. We are so grateful for these programs and would love to continue creating these opportunities for our kiddos.
